Dear Dr. Ryan,

After the sudden snow blizzard which cancelled school Thursday and Friday, I felt compelled to take a few minutes of your time to write you and your staff of service personnel to bring to your attention the dedication of one of your employees.

6-1357

I'm speaking of Minnie E. Carmicheal, a small lady of 4'10", about 60 years old and hard of hearing. Minnie has worked in the kitchen and cafeteria of Wilkie Quad for over ten years.

She resides alone in a north Lincoln street apartment approximately 20-25 blocks from Wilkie. After visiting her doctor on Wednesday, January 25 for an ankle strain, she arose early on Thursday to face our bleak blizzard conditions. Naturally, she couldn't get a taxi, so she walked those 20 some blocks in impossible weather conditions so that "her" students would be greeted by her smiling face that morning.

Minnie rarely misses a day of work, rarely works only an eight hour day, and rarely is credited for her faithful service.

I'm sure there were other dedicated service persons too, but this is a unique case of dedication and I felt it was worthy of your attention.

Sincerely,

Pat Curry
